by admin  Saturday, September 23, 2017 - 13:53  comments

Firstbaze is focused on developing our communities through targeted activities aimed at individuals at various levels of educational or vocational attainment.

Our Training Resources and Competencies (TR&C) programmes provide competencies and skill sets with opportunities for certification to enable individuals startup their own enterprises or pursue careers or training to higher levels.

Through competitive activities such as writing challenges, quiz contest, drama or interschool debates we stimulate interest in our participants to the degree they find fun in learning and maintain focus in their educational pursuit.

Our IT related training events offers opportunities for sections of our communities to develop a range of skills from basic word processing to use of spreadsheets and data management tools as well as more encompassing resources including scripting and website content management or basic research methods.

We support creativity and through our music and arts academy seek to enthuse students as well as tutors by providing resources and an environment that fosters individual and collective development.
